Editorial Comment

Anti-Poverty Fund Use Investigation Due

Misuse of anti-poverty funds in the Valley area has been charged by two California legislators.

Investigations into the alleged misuse of these funds have been requested by Rep. Bob Mathias of Visalia and Sen. George Murphy of California.

Mathias says he has evidence an organization financed by an anti-poverty grant has utilized government funds to aid in the unionization of farm workers in the Delano area.

Murphy joins Mathias in asserting the California Rural Legal Assistance League is using funds allocated to it by the Office of Economic Opportunity to fight the government itself in the courts on a farm labor issue!

The legal assistance league is fighting a government order, Murphy claims, authorizing importation of Mexican Braceros to assist in the fall harvest of crops.

The anti-poverty program throughout the nation has been attacked on several fronts in recent months as being horribly mismanaged.

At a time when the best evidence indicates an extreme shortage of farm labor in this area, the implication that taxpayers' funds are being used to assist in the formation of a union is particularly odorous. Not that it wouldn't be at any time.

Mathias and Murphy are quite right in requesting immediate investigation of their charges and immediate cessation of such activities by the organizations concerned if such activities are found to exist. — Visalia Times-Delta

Mathias Reports Disenchantment By Taxpayers With War On Poverty

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Bob Mathias reports that more than 75 per cent of Kern, Kings and Tulare county residents feel the War on Poverty "has not been worth the cost." Mathias made the statement based on results of his 1967 Legislative questionnaire which pointed out strong public disapproval of the poverty program.

"Many persons made very emphatic comments which expressed an overwhelming lack of confidence in the Administration's war on poverty efforts," Mathias said.

"Of those responding from Kern county, 80 per cent indicated a negative position on the War on Poverty, and in Kings and Tulare counties, 68 per cent expressed the same feelings. Only 14 per cent in Kern, and 13 per cent in Kings and Tulare said the program had been worth the cost. The remaining percentages expressed no opinion.

"The list of complaints against mismanagement in the Office of Economic Opportunity grows longer every day, as investigations continue to point out errors, disorganized thinking and fallacies in the poverty program, and I feel there is strong disenchantment with the lack of accomplishment to date. More important, I think that taxpayers would like to see Congress monitor this program, with tough guidelines. As it now stands, there is no Congressional oversight or control.

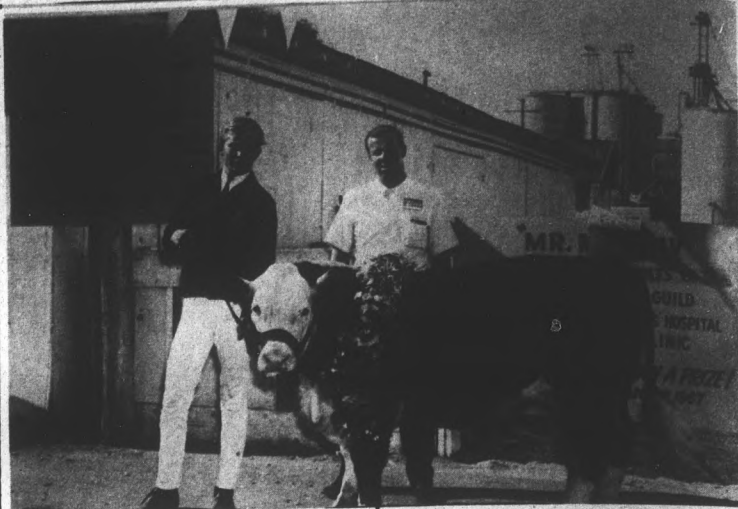

"Before final adjournment," Mathias said,

EMIGRANT BASIN WILDERNESS AREA

SONORA - United States Forest Service lands in the Emigrant Basin Primitive area, and adjacent lands in Tuolumne county, are being studied for possible delineation as "wilderness" area.

"Congress must act on the president's request for $2.06 billion for the OEO, an increase of 25 per cent over last year. There is presently a move underway in the House to dismantle the OEO and move its programs to such established departments as Labor and Health, Education and Welfare. Based on public opinion polls throughout the nation, Congress will be giving very careful consideration to this proposal."

Mathias also noted a bill he has recently introduced which would amend the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 to prohibit poverty workers from participating in political activities. The bill is pending before the Education and Labor committee.

MR. MOO the fourth, weighing in at just under a thousand pounds, was purchased for 90 cents a pound at the Tulare County fair, Saturday, by Fred Lowry & Son, of Visalia, with Dave Lowry shown in photo. Money from the sale, and from a weight-guessing contest, goes to the Valley Children's Hospital in Fresno, with the Mr. Moo project handled by the Hospital Guild, headed this year by Mrs. Mac Williams, of Porterville. The steer was donated to the Guild by Merle Soultz; he was fed out on the Tulare High School farm under the supervision of Ronnie Wilbourne, president of the Tulare FFA chapter, who is also shown in photo; feed was donated by C. J. Shannon. Another Mr. Moo - this one the fifth, will go into the feed lot soon for sale next year. (Farm Tribune photo)

Duffy Committee Holding Hearing On Use Of Drugs

SACRAMENTO - Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, chairman of the Assembly Public Health committee has stated that, "The recognition of drug use as a health problem is long overdue. Up to this time, control of drug addiction and drug abuse has been primarily focused on punitive approaches. It is time to design future programs based upon the recognition that drug abuse is also a health problem."

Assemblyman Duffy made the statement in announcing that his committee will hold a hearing today, September 28, in San Francisco to explore the health problems associated with drug use in California.

Duffy said that the failure to objectively assess the dangers associated with drugs and drug use has created an "unbelievable gap" between the younger generation's assessment of the use of drugs and an actual assessment of the effects of drug use.

SHORT SHOTS: Vandalia 4-H club must have set some kind of record this year in the showing of beef animals, what with two grand champions in a month - Buck Bennett taking his steer to the top at the California State Fair, and JoAnne Purinton moving into the charmed circle at the Tulare County fair... Charter form of government for Tulare county is not a cureall for the administrative troubles now besetting the county, but if the people are willing to go the full route involving elimination of virtually all elective county positions, except supervisors, and the establishing of a management form of government, then a properly drafted charter could improve county governmental operations... After observing all the junk that accumulates on top of tables, benches, and other flat surfaces we are about to market a table with a slanting top. This would make it impossible to stack more on it than you could hold in place with both hands and would eliminate half the clutter from the world. Of course instead of being put away it might just be dumped on the floor but at least you could find a spot to rest your elbows on.

Our tables here are also loaded with high quality junk such as bulbs, started plants, fertilizers, grass seed, and a certain amount of dust. We would like to remove some of this clutter by the simple process of selling it to some unsuspecting gardener like yourself. We urge you not to miss the opportunity and at the same time preview our unclutterable table.

The started plants that we've been saying for six weeks would be ready in two weeks are now ready. The large flowered pansies, stocks, snaps, dwarf snaps, calendula, verbena, annual phlox, alyssum, gloriosa daisy, and dwarf sweet William are cluttering both ground and tables.

Also if you have bare ground that the grass seems to slide off, it is time for annual rye seed. This can be sowed to keep bermuda lawns green, hold down the mud or dust, or furnish feed for your sheep.

Comstock Mealybug Infestation Is Being Combatted In Porterville

SACRAMENTO - Comstock mealybug, a new and potentially serious pest of fruit trees in this state, has been discovered in Tulare county, the California Department of Agriculture reports.

Specimens of this mealybug, Pseudococcus comstocki, were collected by Ernest Crew, a Tulare County Agricultural inspector, on a fruitless mulberry tree in Porterville.

Entomologists of the Department's Bureau of Entomology said Comstock mealybug was a serious pest at one time in some eastern and southern states, attacking peach, apple, pear, mulberry and catalpa trees and many ornamental plants.

The mealybug is a small cottony-white insect that feeds in masses on the trunk, limbs, twigs and leaves of the host plants, yellowing and dropping interior leaves, producing copious amounts of sticky "honeydew" and killing twigs and small branches.

State and county agricultural officials are seeking to determine the extent of infestation and the kinds of host plants attacked. To date infestation has been found over much of the City of Porterville but it has not as yet been found in adjacent towns. Mulberry, apricot and a number of ornamental shrubs and vines have been found infested.

The California department of agriculture has obtained the services of Dr. Donald Clancy, a United States department of agriculture entomologist at Riverside who was responsible for the excellent control results of Comstock mealybug in the east. He has been asked to activate a biological control program in the Porterville area to involve predator releases and parasite introductions and has already released large numbers of one of the predators in the new infestation. Dr. Clancy will associate directly with Tulare County Agricultural Commissioner Elvin Mankins in this work.

Walter T. Shannon, director of the California Department of Fish and Game, has been elected president of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation commissioners.

PANTHERS SHOW EXTREME TALENT, ALSO ERRATIC BEHAVIOR

In dropping their opening home game to Bakersfield's South High 14-6 the Porterville High Panthers exhibited all of the character flaws of an alcoholic painter. The Panthers displayed extreme talent, erratic behavior, and a perhaps fatal weakness.

The orange and green running game looked devastating at times, but was inconsistent and could not generate enough momentum to pickup the passing attack. The line-blasting charges of Steve Brown netted 90 yards against the tough South front. But, the big junior is going to gain a lot more yards when he learns that he doesn't have to leave his feet at first contact in a head-long plunge. By staying on his feet and keeping his legs driving the big fullback will break tackles, and then the touchdowns will start coming.

Richard Bland showed poise and fine execution at quarterback. But, he often looked like a sophomore in the face of the stiff South High rush. Since Bland is in fact a sophomore it is a tendency that will be corrected by game experience. He is a comer with the quarterbacking spark that results in winning football.

It was on defense that the perhaps fatal weakness emerged. The defensive arsenal is incomplete. The work against the over-land assault was great. South High running backs were unable to penetrate the Panther front with any consistency or effectiveness. It's the anti-missile department that hurts. The Rebels were able to break receivers loose in the Panther secondary seemingly at will and it was only a fine pass rush that kept the South air-force from putting on an awesome display.

But, in spite of the glaring defensive weakness the fact remains that the South High offense did not score a point during the entire evening. The two Rebel scores came on offensive mistakes. The first South six-pointer came on a fumble recovery run of 20 yards and the second from a pass interception return of 31 yards. Take away the two miscues and we won the game 6-0. The Panther's weakness against the pass can be corrected, but pass defense is probably the most difficult assignment in football. It is likely to keep even a thorough tactician like Bob Otto busy for the next few weeks.

But, the elements of a winning football team are there. It may take several weeks for them to emerge, but that is what the exhibition season is for. If the steel of the Panther football team is tempered in the tremendous heat of Bakersfield high schools football competition, Coach Bob Otto will field a team that won't crack when the chips are down in Central Yosemite League play.

The Panthers are on the road this week as they travel to East Bakersfield. The Blades figure to be tough after edging Delano 7-6 last week.

Dairy Heifer Sale At Fair Averages $486

TULARE - A sale average of $486 was set as 11 dairy replacement heifers, raised by Tulare County 4-H and F.F.A. members, were sold last week at the Tulare County fair, according to Tulare County Farm Advisor Ronald S. Knight.

Bill Rowley, an F.F.A. alumnus from Redwood High school in Visalia, purchased the top selling heifer for $700, a registered Holstein consigned by Richard Stark, Lindsay 4-H club member. Stark won the animal at the 1965 Tulare County fair when he placed highest in a dairy judging contest.

Bob Montgomery of Hanford paid $625 for the other registered animal in the sale, consigned by Ton Byl, Jr., of the Elbow 4-H club.

Other buyers who actively supported the seventh annual sale were Fred Martella of Hanford, three animals; Claude Nitson of Tulare, two animals; Amelio Curti, Waukena, Joe Menezes, Tulare Home line, Rockford; and Debbie Gilbert, Westfield 4-H club.

Garments will be modeled that have been made as part of the 4-H program by the special clothing award winners who exhibited clothing at the California State fair. Those members are: Pam Swall, Oakdale; JoWayne Brown, Success Valley; Laurie Stark, Lindsay; Lynn Barrett, Springville; and Laura Mendoza, Ducor 4-H.

A special demonstration will be given using the new clothing project outline based on buymanship, selection, and coordination by Gail Ward, Prairie Center; Rhonda Greaver, and Sandra Andrada, Waukena; Linda Bomann, Oak Grove; and Susan Stone, Kings River. A model Junior leader project meeting will be demonstrated by junior leader merit award winners: Janie Wilson, Muy Bonita; Rebecca Sullivan, Buena Vista; Trish Whitenale, East Lynne; and Joanne Pelous, Lindsay.

All clothing leaders and other interested persons are asked to make a reservation at the Farm and Home Advisors Office in Visalia. The workshop will be from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

DUCOR CLUB IS WORKING ON BREAKFAST PLANS

DUCOR - Plans for promoting the annual 4-H Breakfast, October 7, were discussed at the September meeting of Ducor 4-H club held at the Community center.

President Gary Todd appointed the following members to decorate a store window in Porterville: Sandy Parsons, chairman; Patricia Muller, Scott Trueblood, Donna Evans, and Johnny Parsons.

Ticket sales will be conducted by two competing teams, with the losers giving a party for the members of the winning team.

Laura Mendoza, who won fifth place for her clothing at the State fair, reported on her visit to Sacramento, and displayed her prize of sewing equipment.

Gary Todd thanked the club for sending him to the 4-H conference on the Davis campus this summer and reported on activities. After the business meeting, he taught the members a new and exciting game which he had brought back from Davis.

Flag salutes were led by Donna Evans and Sandy Parsons, and the members introduced themselves and their parents.

Refreshments were served by Kathy Garlock, Sherri Fitterer, and Patricia Muller, assisted by Mrs. Leo Garlock and Mr. William Evans.

TULARE COUNTY WINS PRIZES AT L.A. FAIR

VISALIA - Tulare County's "Discover Tulare County" exhibit, after winning third place and $1200 at the State fair in Sacramento, gained further recognition by winning the second place award of $650 in prize money, a silver dish and two featurette premiums at the Los Angeles County fair in Pomona.

The olive and olive oil feature of the display won first award of $40 and a certificate. The display on nuts took a second premium of $35, bringing the total prize money for the Los Angeles County fair to $725.

September 29th has been designated as "Tulare County Day" at Pomona and the feature race of the day will be run as the "Tulare County Handicap."

NEWSPAPER AWARDS DINNER SET OCTOBER 10

VISALIA - More than 100 entries have been received in the first Tulare County Newspaper Reporter Awards contest.

Winners in the eight categories, publishers and editors of the competing newspapers and contest judges will be guests at an October 10 dinner in Visalia.

The dinner coincides with National Newspaper week, October 8 - 13.

Hosting the dinner, scheduled at 7:00 p.m. in the Visalia Elks club, will be officers and directors of Mineral King Savings and Loan association, which is sponsoring the contest.

Plaques will be presented to the winning newspapers, and a certificate of merit will be presented to the winning reporter, editor or photographer in each of eight categories--spot news reporting, feature stories, sports

Fresno State College journalism professor Bernard Shepard and six other FSC faculty members are acting as judges in the contest. Entries were submitted from newspaper issues published between September 1, 1966, and August 31, 1967.

The president of the sponsoring firm, Ira J. Chrisman of Visalia, said special invitations have been issued to three veteran publishers: W. S. Clawson, for years editor and publisher of the Exeter Sun, and later secretary-manager of the Tulare county chamber of commerce; Ford Chatters, former editor and publisher of the Lindsay Gazette; and Homer Wood, former editor and publisher of the Porterville Evening Recorder.

The area's representative in Washington, Congressman Bob Mathias, and State Senator Howard Way

HOMECOMING QUEEN CONTEST ENTRY DEADLINE OCTOBER 16; MEMORIAL SERVICE PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

PORTERVILLE - Several girls of the community have already submitted applications for competition in the annual Veterans' Homecoming Day queen contest and more are expected before the deadline of Monday noon, Oct. 16.

Several girls of the community have already submitted applications for competition in the annual Veterans' Homecoming Day queen contest and more are expected before the deadline of Monday noon, Oct. 16.

Ialene Flory, chairman of the queen contest, said as many girls as want may sign up and participate in judging which will be held Oct. 24 at Memorial auditorium. The contestants will be reduced to five finalists from which the queen will be chosen. The other four finalists will serve as her court.

All contestants must be under 21 years of age, unmarried, and a student at Porterville college or Porterville high school. Applications are available at the college or high school officers, the chamber of commerce office or from Mrs. Flory, 14514 Road 208, Porterville.

At the Veteran's Homecoming Day committee meeting Monday night Rev. Ragnar Kjeldahl, Protestant chaplain at Porterville State hospital and chairman of the memorial services set for 8 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5, in the Veteran's Memorial auditorium, reported that the program is complete.

Kjeldahl said Commander Nilus W. Hubble, USN, senior chaplain at Lemoore Naval Air Station, will be the main speaker. Other ministers participating will be Rev. Fred L. Fanthorpe, Evangelical United Brethren church; Rev. Joseph Farrington, Catholic chaplain, Porterville State hospital; Rev. Charles E. Brandon, pastor emeritus, St. John's Episcopal church; Rev. Ralph Daniels, First Baptist church; and Rev. Neal Sorber, St. Anne's Catholic church.

Plans for the non-denominational services include the use of Dean Sempole's concert choir from PUHS and Buck Shaffer's PUHS Panther band to provide appropriate music.

In other reports, the Homecoming Day group, composed of members of both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion approved a request from the Porterville Scicon Library committee to sponsor a benefit barbecue dinner on Veterans' Day at Vandalia school.

Hazel Lofton, parade secretary, reported entries are coming in for the parade which she indicated should be one of the largest ever held here.

The prize committee noted that prizes will be displayed on Main street starting next week.

Commissioner Reports On County Crops

VISALIA - Olive harvest is just getting underway in Tulare county, according to the weekly report of agricultural Commissioner Elvin Mankins, who says that sizes are good but crop is very light.

Mankins states that milo harvest is also just starting, with good yields reported, and that blackeye harvest is underway with yields about normal or slightly above normal.

Field corn harvest is continuing, with yields slightly below last year; sugar beet harvest is in full swing; Valencia oranges are still being packed; new crop Navel oranges are growing well, but maturity will be late.

Fall tomatoes, beans, peas and other vegetables are doing better as a result of cooling weather; rangeland conditions continue above normal.
